Make a New Start

The winter of 1931-32 is passing—it is almost gone. Admittedly, it has been a winter of trial, of hardship, of great difficulty, even of actual suffering for many. It has been a period to try men's souls, to test their faith and their courage. And tens of thousands have stood the test. The experience may have left some marks and scars, it has undoubtedly taught some bitter lessons, and these, in the long run, may not be without their value. At all events, it is to be hoped so. But the present, and pleasant, fact is that this winter of our discontent, disappointment and trial is almost over. For so much we can offer thanks.

With the ending of this winter, there is also a growing belief, becoming more and more general, that the worst of the so-called business depression likewise comes to an end; that from this time onward there will be a steady improvement, albeit slow and gradual. It is not to be expected, nor indeed would it be desirable, that there will be anything spectacular in this betterment, as there was at the beginning of the depression in the great stock market crash. The upward movement should be of a permanent character, and to be permanent it must be slow and gradual, with nothing of the mushroom variety about it.

However, during this winter people have been thinking as they perhaps never thought before, thinking seriously, thinking constructively. So many of the false props erected in the days when everything was booming collapsed, so many false gods were overthrown, so many unsound theories were exploded, so many bubbles burst, that people generally, including statesmen and politicians, great funders and business executives, as well as the humble laborer and wage earner, have been forced back to acceptance of and reliance upon the tried and true in economics and the basic foundations of life. This, in itself, is a great gain and full of promise for the years that lie ahead.

One writer in a magazine devoted to business raises the interesting question as to the extent to which the ill-considered choice of a word has played a major part in producing the psychological atmosphere of our far from satisfactory business conditions. He says that if the person or persons who first gave currency to the phrase "business depression" had made the happier and more accurate choice of "business recession," it is conceivable that the general attitude toward our recent past, our still troubling present, and our probable future for some time, might have been distinctly different. While the two phrases might have the same literal meaning, each indicating that business had gone more or less away from a previous point of comfort and satisfaction, might not we have viewed the movement somewhat more cheerfully, more hopefully, had we thought of it as having merely "moved" than as having actually "depressed"? It is clear that "recession" is a much less fearsome word than "depression." Casually we picture things as coming back much more easily than as coming up, although the same forces may all affect and govern either movement. From now on it would do no harm, and might do some good, in the effect upon ourselves, to think and measure business as having merely receded for the time being rather than as being in a hopelessly depressed state.

Apart from this, however, with the coming of Spring in each and every year all nature rejoices and takes on new life. The grass, the trees respond; all animal life feels invigorated; human beings are inspired with new hopes and animated with renewed energy. The dark days and long nights of winter give place to the longer days of bright sunshine and shorter hours of night. Everybody feels a desire to busy themselves about something useful and productive. Nature itself on every hand is aroused from its long sleep, anxious once again to produce and be fruitful.

We are now entering upon that time of activity and productiveness. It is ours to make the most of it, not in any foolish spirit of undue optimism, not expecting to work wonders, but with a cheerful hope and expectation that, with the winter of our previous discontent and hardship past, we are again placing our feet on the highroad to better times and in the direction of finer and more permanent and beneficial accomplishment.

It is now up to us as individuals to throw off the depression which has upset and unnerved us, which actually made cowards of some of us, and, realizing that it was rather a recession of former good times which took place, set ourselves energetically and hopefully to the task, not only of checking that recession, but of bringing ourselves, our businesses, our country back to the more satisfactory plane upon which it has been our happy lot in former years to move and live.

Governor-General Has Conviction That Dominion Rests On Sound Foundation

Profound conviction that Canada rests on the soundest foundation any country can have, "a people whose character, whose heart, and whose outlook are fundamentally sound," was expressed by the Earl of Bessborough, Governor-General, at a luncheon given in his honor by the Canadian Club at Halifax.

"With the first anniversary of my arrival only a few weeks distant, I am naturally tempted to look back on the events of the past 12 months," said his excellency in his address.

"I have met a good many thousand people, and they besides impressing on me individually that their own city is really the centre of gravity of the whole Dominion, have collectively impressed on me a profound conviction that the Dominion rests on the soundest foundation any country can have, namely, a people whose character, whose heart, and whose outlook are fundamentally sound."

Plans To Send Wheat To World's Grain Exhibition

The ministry of agriculture has recommended that Argentine farmers send exhibits of wheat and other products to the World's Grain Exhibition to be held in Regina, Saskatchewan, in 1933.

This decision was made at a conference of government agricultural officials seeking to increase the efficiency of Argentine farming methods and to open new export markets for the Argentine farmer.

Indications Point To End Of Drought Conditions And Prospects Are Brighter

More hopeful than he had dared to be in three years, the wheat farmer of Western Canada today looks forward to another encounter with his greatest enemy—drought—and ponders over the signs, still indistinct, that seem to point to the downfall of his enemies.

His chances of harvesting a normal crop this fall are good, in the opinion of many agriculturists. They are not as bright as in several years previous to the three-year dry period that started in 1929 and ruined or partially-ruined consecutive crops, but they are better than in 1930 and 1931 for a variety of reasons.

Deprived of its moisture reserve by three summers of scorching sun, the great wheat country of Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba will be put to seed this spring by thousands of grim wheatmen who know the land must produce this year if they are to keep from sinking further into the slough of debt into which they have been dragged by low prices and crop failures.

Here are some of the reasons they prepare for seeding with hope:

(1) More work than usual was done on the land last fall. The late season allowed farmers, particularly in Manitoba, southern and central Saskatchewan and southern Alberta, to prepare far more acreage for seedling and summerfallow than in the last several years.

(2) Sufficient seed will be available to plant as much, if not more, land than last year when 25,352,722 acres were seeded to wheat.

(3) Fall rains and exceptionally heavy snowfall this winter are likely to leave the top-soil in a fairly moist condition. The lack of reserve moisture however, makes early spring rains imperative if the crop is to develop properly.

(4) The damp autumn caused growth of weeds, permitting farmers to do considerable cutting and cultivating. In some districts weeds came to seed before cold weather set in. The weed situation generally is expected to be improved in the spring.

(5) Consistent leniency of farmers' creditors in not pressing collections on debt interest and principle.

Despite the promising signs that point to a change in the times, agriculturists know that only one thing will bring production back to normal. There must be early-spring rains, rains that will provide moisture for seed germination and lessen possibility of soil-drying.

The comparatively small amount of moisture that will be absorbed by the land when snow starts to melt is far from sufficient to get the west's 1932 crop away to a good start. This is especially the case in areas dried out by three seasons of sub-normal rainfall, including southern Saskatchewan, Manitoba, parts of south Alberta and sections of central Saskatchewan.

An outstanding exception is the Peace River country of Alberta, virtually untouched by the drought menace last summer. Prospects there are for another bumper crop. The soil holds almost a normal moisture supply.

It may be that the farmer is a good gambler, or just a plain optimist, but he feels confident this season will provide his crops with a good moisture supply. "The law of averages, if nothing else," said one expert grower, "should give us rain this spring and summer. In other words it's been tails so often these last few flips that heads is due."

In the wheat belt where a scorching sun burned out thousands of acres of crops last summer, smothering the hopes of farmers early in August, more land than usual is prepared for seeding. Late summer and early autumn could not be wasted and hundreds of far-seeing farmers started cultivating the dry, hard land at a time when normally they would be reaping from it a rich harvest of grain.

Though seed will not be scarce, a good percentage of growers plan to summerfallow from one-quarter to one-third of their land, perhaps planting on the balance more oats than usual to build up depleted feed supplies.

It promises to be a season of hard work for the prairie farmer. He will do a great deal more labor himself than in the days when "two dollar wheat" was his objective, depend on fewer helpers and produce wheat—if at the same time he beats the drought—more economically than at any time since machines revolutionized farming a few years back.

Gardening Notes

A GOOD LAWN

The lawn is absolutely essential from the standpoint of beauty in connection with any garden, an even, velvety sward of green grass setting off brilliant flowers and making an ideal spot for the children to play in. We can use grass for our paths between the beds, though if there is much traffic it may not stand up as well as more permanent material like brick, flagstones, gravel, concrete or cinders. Our lawn must be even, the grass should be a dark green, there must be no weeds and no bare spots. In planting a permanent affair of this kind most of the work must be done in advance. It is essential that the ground be thoroughly dug and levelled before the grass is sown. If at all possible, give any weed seeds a chance to sprout and then cultivate to kill them before we seed down. Late frosts and heavy spring rains will settle the soil after which we should rake level again. Grass like any other plant responds to fertilizer, and while well rotted manure is one of the best agencies in this connection, in the case of lawns it is not so advisable as commercial fertilizer on account of the danger of weed seeds. A good mixture high in Nitrogen, which element furnishes the green growth, is the best to use. A vital factor in this, as well as all other forms of gardening, is the seed. There are dozens of mixtures on the market and prices vary. But good grass costs money because seed giving a fine, velvety sward that will stand up year after year is expensive. Cheap mixtures will make a fine appearance the first year, but kill out badly with frost and are inclined to develop more and more into coarse, rank-growing grass as time goes on. Reputable seed houses who depend on trade year after year for their own protection only handle grass that will give the best results under Canadian conditions as their mixtures, tested and approved by Government officials, are safe. One pound of seed is required for every two hundred square feet, and where the ground is shoddy special seed should be used. Roll or pound the seeded ground thoroughly. This same practice is recommended for treating bare spots upon which the seed should be raked in thoroughly and some protection against birds, like wire or branches, should be placed over the newly seeded spot.

Damage From Insects

Field Pests Do Damage In Canada Totalling An Enormous Amount Annually

The annual damage wrought in Canada by insects amounts to over $100,000,000, Prof. A. V. Mitchener, of the Manitoba Agricultural College, told members of the Canadian Society of Technical Agriculturists at Winnipeg.

Professor Mitchener added that in 1932 a wide extended area of Manitoba will be infested with the grasshopper plague than was the case in 1931.

A full-size 40-quart milk can may now be made in one piece.

This was 3.2 miles an hour faster than his previous record of 245 miles an hour.

Canada Fails To Keep Pace With Other Countries In The Improvement Of Dairy Herds

Protect Fruit Growers

Hon. Robt. Weir Addresses Meeting Of Canadian Horticultural Council

Reference to the forthcoming Imperial Conference, which will have a bearing on the trade of commercial horticulturists, was made by Hon. Robert Weir, Minister of Agriculture, in a welcome address at the 10th annual meeting of the Canadian Horticultural Council at Ottawa.

"The government calls for and relies upon the advice of the horticultural council, knowing that it represents all branches of the industry," said Mr. Weir. "During the past the government had been trying to give the growers something in the way of a much needed protection in the form of a seasonal tariff. In view of the coming Imperial Conference the government is particularly anxious to get the figures on the cost of production of various fruit crops, and the prospects of supplies in one, five and ten years, with the estimated cost. The care with which this information is prepared will determine the results the commercial horticulturist may expect from the conference."

Lindbergh Does Not Change

Just As Quiet At Thirty, But Trifle More Mature

Charles A. Lindbergh was 30 years old the other day. The day found the prince of the sky-ways even more skilled in the science he loves—and just as averse to talking about himself. The aged phrase "Business as usual," still applies to him—so far as any one can discover. Charles Augustus Jr., is now a toddling youngster. A trifle more mature, the flying colonel is in most respects just the same tall, slim youngster who speeded the heart beats of a world with his Paris flight. His light hair is just as tousled and his voice as boyish. The last twelve months have been eventful in the Lindbergh career. Twenty thousand miles, more or less, would be a rough estimate of his year's air travels.

Value Of Cow Testing

Testing Milk Cows For Production Necessary To Success

The value of testing milk cows for production was emphasized at Saskatoon by C. Isnor, dairyman of this district, on the occasion of a banquet tendered him by the Saskatoon Herd Improvement Association, upon his winning the association cup for highest average production, and the Star-Phoenix trophy for the greatest increase in production per cow.

Mr. Isnor said he tested every cow and unless they measured up to expectations he got rid of them. He said he bought all his feed and yet made a profit from his operations.

It was reported that the average cow owned by members produced 29 pounds more butterfat in 1931 than in the previous year despite unfavorable weather conditions.

Canada is not keeping pace with other dairy countries in improvement of dairy herds, in opinion of Dr. J. A. Ruddick, "dairy" commissioner, who addressed the Dairyman's Association of Eastern Ontario at Kingston. He described the movement as "ignored" in this country, for though there has been a gradual growth in cow-testing, the proportion of animals involved is still insignificant in comparison with the total.

"It is somewhat significant," says Dr. Ruddick, "that in New Zealand, Denmark and other countries where cow-testing has made most progress, the herd owners have taken the initiative and have borne most of the cost. In Canada, the movement is showing best results in Saskatchewan and British Columbia, where most of the cost is borne by the farmers themselves. This seems to suggest that when the people pay for a service they get more out of it. I sometimes think that governments do too many things for the people in this country."

It is interesting, therefore, to find in the report of the dairy commissioner for Alberta a statement that "organized cow-testing work has been carried on by the Dominion Department for a number of years, but until quite recently has not received the attention and support that it deserves at the hands of our dairymen. Our neighboring provinces of British Columbia and Saskatchewan are developing this sort of work along very substantial lines, and there is every reason to expect that the lower price level for dairy products will give a strong impulse to the extension of any line of work that will promote a lowering of the cost of milk production."

New Tire Air-Cooled

Hundreds Of Holes In Tread Let Heat Escape

It is an established fact that heat is a great enemy of rubber. Tests show that tires sometimes get as hot as 200 degrees, and that this temperature shortens their life.

A manufacturer now announces, states World's Work, that a successful air-cooled tire has been devised. Hundreds of transverse holes are placed in the tire tread; the hot air is constantly being squeezed out by contact with the road and replaced by cooler air. The result, it is claimed, is a reduction of as much as 36 degrees in heat.

This inventor believes that it will be possible to make such a tire containing more rubber than the current types, and that eventually tires will be built which will last as long as the car.

Large Order For Shingles

British Columbia Ships Seven Million To Western Ontario

A train load of 32 cars of British Columbia shingles, part of an order for 34 cars, representing 7,000,000 shingles, or enough to roof over 400 average dwellings, has been shipped from Vancouver to eastern Ontario.

Even in normal times such a shipment would be exceptional. In existing conditions it is hoped that it is a token of renewal of demand for shingles and lumber generally in eastern Canada.

The order is from Weston, Ont.

Ray Of Hope Collapse Of Wheat Market Not Due To World Surplus

There never has been a world surplus of wheat, according to Dr. W. W. Swanson, professor of economics at the University of Saskatchewan. In an interview at Regina, Sask. He expressed the opinion that the collapse of the international wheat market was from other factors, as the alleged surplus has never existed. For this reason the economist expressed the view that those who waited that dollar wheat would never return here were not taking into consideration that the price of wheat had been linked with the prices of other commodities, some of which had dropped to a greater degree than wheat.

As a ray of hope to the grain growers and others involved, he expressed the opinion that wheat prices are due to make a steady recovery, from a standpoint of its strong statistical position.

Dr. Swanson qualified the statement when he said: "The course of these prices, however, will be determined by an infinitely complex combination of factors, not the least of which will be the purchasing power of the pound sterling, the outcome of which no one can definitely forecast."

Coupons for Money

Farmers Lose Difficulty When Banks Refuse To Make Loan

"If the banks won't lend any money make your own money," farmer co-operators at Le Roy, Sask., say.

Last summer they set up a cheese factory which has run several years ago but closed down when the price of wheat was high and farmers stopped milking cows. They also knew how to make good cheese.

They wanted to receive and buy milk to make cheese but cheese is a commodity that is not immediately ready for sale, it must mature for several weeks.

They tried to borrow money from the banks on the security of their cheese, but banks are not interested in agricultural produce at present.

So they printed coupons paying 50 cents per 100 pounds of milk with promise of redemption when the cheese was sold. As the coupons were sold these farmer-financiers were able to pay themselves an interim dividend of 30 cents and a final payment of 17.9 cents per hundred that the farmers got for their milk. All of the coupons were redeemed within two weeks of the time the last cheese was sold.

NEIGHBORS TALK

"I am employed in a theatre and it is a problem to make ends meet, as I help support my mother and sister. I like to dress well but haven't very much to spend on clothes. To give the appearance of chic with my slender wardrobe I change the colour of a dress or stockings as soon as the things become faded. I always use Diamond Dyes for the work—using them as dyes for dresses and as tints for stockings. I have always gotten such perfect results that our neighbors talk about the great number of new things I have."

"I learned about Diamond Dyes from our wardrobe mistress. She says she has tried all the dyes on the market but none do such splendid work and are so easy to use as Diamond Dyes. I understand they are the world's most popular dyes and they deserve to be."

New Type Of Optical Glass

For Use In High Grade Telescopes and Field Glasses

Discovery of a new type of optical glass was claimed by Dr. E. Raymond Riegel of the University of Buffalo. The new glass was described as possessing "great resistance to weather and a high index of refraction." It was the first glass ever produced which contained blumuth, Dr. Riegel said. Development of the glass was completed in the Bailey and Sharp laboratories at Hamburg, N.Y. The glass was expected to be used in high grade telescopes and field glasses, as well as laboratory microscopes.

JESUS COMFORTS HIS DISCIPLES

Golden Text: "Peace I leave unto you; My peace I give unto you; not as the world giveth, give I unto you. Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be fearful."—John 14.27.

Lesson: John 14 to 17.

Devotional Reading: Isaiah 40:1-8.

Explanations and Comments

Christ the Comforter, verse 1.—The disciples were perplexed and troubled; their hearts were failing them as they approached the last crisis in their Master's life. It was faith in the Father that kept Christ serene and peaceful so near His end, and faith in the Father and the Son would uphold the disciples in that terrible hour. "Let not your heart be troubled," He said to them in their last talk together; "believe in God, believe also in Me."

"Twas the Master Himself who said it."

To the sorrowful little band, Facing an hour of darkness That they could not understand."

Here lies the secret of an untroubled mind amidst of troubled circumstances—faith in a living God and Saviour. Not a nominal faith in the Father, but a living, active, overmastering belief in His goodness and wisdom and in His overlooking all their sins and mistakes. The heart, iron despair in times of storm and stress.

Christ's Words About Heaven, verses 2, 3.—Separation was at hand, but there would be a reunion. "In My Father's house are many mansions; if I were not I would have told you [that your hope might not be in vain]; for I go to prepare a place for you." One word—"mansion" meant originally a place of shelter, and the margin of the Revised Version has the translation "abiding place."

"Of course He would have told them. It was His nature to tell them everything it was necessary for them to know. He would not allow His friends to go on holding delusions when a word from Him would set them free. These men had in them an instinctive belief in the life to come. Like all normal and unspoiled men they believed that death is not the end. They looked forward to a life of larger scope and rapture than any this world can know. Jesus allowed them to nourish their expectations. He saw the direction in which their faith was moving, and He did not tell them they were swayed by an illusion. He let them go on thinking of heaven, hoping for heaven, working for heaven, and now that the end of His earthly life had come, He told them that the life of the nature of this vast world just beyond the shadows."—Charles E. Jefferson.

"No force divides compels. For him who shares Christ's way, for him alone The Chrat of Calvary a place prepares."

Isaiah makes his own."

—John Elliot Bowman.

Christ the Way, the Truth, and the Life, verses 4-7.—The disciples had at last grasped the fact that Jesus was to leave them, and their minds were filled with a sense of the magnitude of their loss. When Jesus added, "And whither I go, ye know the way," Thomas characteristically required fuller knowledge, exclaiming, "Lord, we know not the way: Thou goest; how know we the way?"

The words of Jesus are rich in affirmations. In this Quarter's lesson we have heard Him say, "I am the bread of life," "I am the light of the world," "I am the door," "I am the good shepherd," "I am the resurrection and the life; now he hear Him add, "I am the way, the truth, and the life." Moffatt's translation reads, "I am the real and living way." Jesus does not mean that He is first the way, then the truth, and then the life. The words "truth" and "life" explain in what sense He is the Way; He is the way to God because He is the Truth about God (the true Revealer of God) and the Source of the life that cannot die.

"Jesus our Redeemer is still the Way. A thousand things have come and that remains. It is through His life and His rising from the dead, and through our following with Him, that we walk Heavenward, and reach Heaven at last."

"Without the Truth there is no knowing; without the Life there is no living; I am the Way which thou shouldst pursue; the Truth which thou shouldst believe; the Life which thou shouldst hope for."—Thomas A. Kempis.

New Synthetic Dye Records Hitherto Invisible Objects

A new synthetic dye which photographs hitherto invisible objects was reported to the Optical Society of America by Dr. C. E. K. Mees, director of research of the Eastman Kodak Company.

This dye, xenocyanine, when used in emulsion on a photographic plate, records very short waves of heat radiation as it were visible light. These newly-photographed radiations are infra-red waves much longer than anything hitherto recorded, visible light.

The new dye "sees" these waves out beyond 11,000 angstrom units. An angstrom unit is about one-two-hundred-fifty-millionth part of an inch. So this latest step into the invisible picks up waves a little less than a twenty-thousandth of an inch long.

Objects photographed with infra-red have the same appearance as those seen with visible light.

THE HOUSE OF DREAMS-COME-TRUE

BY MARGARET FIEDLER

Author Of
"The Splendid Folly," "The Hermit Of The East,"
Hodder & Stoughton, Ltd., London.

She felt that if only Judith could better comprehend Clyon's nature, she would not only be disposed to judge him less harshly, but, to a certain extent, would find healing for her own bitterness of resentment and hurt pride.

Judith was an unhappy woman, embittered by one of those blows in life which a woman finds hardest to bear. And Jean hated people to be unhappy.

So that it was with considerable satisfaction that she set out across the park towards Willow Ferry, crossing the river by the footbridge which spanned it at a point about a quarter of a mile below the scene of her unbecoming mishap.

Judith welcomed her with unaccustomed warmth, and after lunch completely won her heart by a candour seemingly akin to Jean's own.

"I've been quite hateful to you since you came to Staple," she said frankly. "Just because you were—who you were. I suppose—turning her head a little aside—"you've heard—you know that old story?"

Then, as Jean murmured an affirmative, she went on quickly:

"Well, it was idiotic of me to feel unfriendly to you. I suppose you happened to be Clyon's daughter, and I honestly ashamed of myself. I should have loved you at once—you're rather a dear, you know—if you had been anyone else. So will you let me love you now, please—It isn't too late?"

It was charmingly done, and Jean received the friendly overture with all the enthusiasm dictated by a generous and spontaneous nature.

"Why, of course," she agreed gladly. "Let's begin over again"—smiling, Judith smiled back.

"Yes, we'll make a fresh start."

After that, things progressed swimmingly. The slight "gases" which had attended the earlier stages of the visit vanished, and very soon, prompted by Judith's eager, interested questions, Jean found herself chatting away quite naturally and happily about her life before she came to Staple and confessing how much she was enjoying her first experience of England.

"It's all so soft, and pretty, and old," she said. "I feel as if Staple must always have been here—just where it is, looking across to the Moor, and nodding sometimes, as much as to say, 'I've been here so long that I know some of your secrets,' she added dreamily. "Those great towers watch us all the time, just as they've watched for centuries. They remind me of the Egyptian Sphinx, they are so still, and silent, and—eternal-looking."

"You've not been a to Dartmoor yet, have you?" asked Judith. "We have a bungalow up there—Three Fir Bungalow, it's called. You must come and spend a few days there with us when the weather gets warmer."

"I should love it," cried Jean, her eyes sparkling. "I'm aching to go to the Moor. I want to see it in all sorts of moods—when it's raining, and when the sun's shining, and when the wind blows. I'm sure it will be different each time—rather like a woman."

"I think it's loveliest of all by moonlight," said Judith, her eyes soft and shining with recollection. "I've loved all the beauty of the world as much as Jean herself did. 'I remember being on the top of one of the towers at night. All the surrounding valleys were hidden in a mist like a silver sea, and I felt as if I had got right away from the everyday world, into a sort of holy of holies that God must have made for His spirits. One almost forgot that one was just an ordinary, plain-bolted human being tied up in a piece of flesh and bone.'"

"Only people aren't really in the least plain-bolted or ordinary," observed Jean quietly.

"You aren't, I verily believe," Judith regarded her curiously for a moment. "I think I wish you were," she said abruptly.

She was not finding the part assigned to her by her brother any too easy. It complicates matters, when you are deliberately planning a semblance of friendship towards someone, if that someone persists in taunting you with little genuine impulses of liking and friendliness.

Jean herself was delighted with the result of her visit to Willow Ferry. She was convinced that Judith was a much nicer woman than she had imagined, or that anyone else imagined her to be, and when she took her departure she carried these warmer sentiments with her, characteristically reproaching herself not a little for her first hasty judgment. People improved upon acquaintance enormously, she reflected.

She did not go straight back to Staple, but took her way towards Charnwood on the chance of finding Claire at home, and, Fate, being in a benevolent mood, she discovered her in her garden, precariously mounted upon a ladder and occupied in nailing back a creper.

Claire greeted her joyfully and proceeded to descend.

"I've been lurching at Willow Ferry," explained Jean, "so I thought I might as well come on here and caddy my tea as well!"

"Of course you might. Adrian has gone into Exeter today, so we shall be alone."

Jean was conscious of an immense relief. The knowledge that Sir Adrian was not anywhere on the premises seemed like the lifting of a blight.

Claire's blue eyes smiled at her understandingly.

"Yes, I know," she nodded, as though Jean had given voice to her thought. "It's just as if someone had opened a window and let the fresh air in, isn't it?"

She collected her tools, and slipping her arm within Jean's led her in the direction of the house.

"We'll have tea at once," she said, "and then I'll walk back with you part way."

EATS DIRT

"You're bent on getting rid of me quickly, then?"

"Yes"—seriously. "He"—there was need to specify to whom the pronoun referred—"will be back by the afternoon train, and for some reason or other he is very unfriendly towards you just now."

"What have I done to offend?" queried Jean lightly. Somehow, with Sir Adrian actually away, it didn't seem a matter of much importance whether he was offended or not. Even the house had a different feel about it as they entered it.

"It's not anything you've done; it's what you are. I think, sometimes, that when a man is full of evil and cruel thoughts and knows he has given himself up to wickedness, he is simply hateful to see anyone young and—good, like you are, Jean, with all your life before you to make a splendid thing of."

"And what about you?" asked Jean, her eyes resting affectionately on the other's delicate face with its pathetically curved lips and the look of trouble in the young blue eyes. "He sees you constantly."

"Oh, he's used to me. I'm only his wife, you see. Besides"—wearily—"he knows that he can effectively prevent me from making a splendid thing of my life."

When PAIN Comes

WHAT many people call indigestion very often means excess acid in the stomach. The stomach nerves have been over-stimulated, and food sours. The corrective is an alkali, which neutralizes the acids instantly. And the best alkali known to medical science is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia.

One spoonful of this harmless, tasteless alkali in water neutralizes acid instantly. The stomach nerves have been over-stimulated, and food sours. The corrective is an alkali, which neutralizes the acids instantly. And the best alkali known to medical science is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia.

The note of bitterness in her voice wrung Jean's heart.

"I don't know how you bear it!" she exclaimed.

"One can bear anything—a day at a time," answered Claire with an attempt at brightness. "But I never look forward," she added in a lower tone.

The words seemed to Jean to contain an epitome of tragedy. Not yet twenty, and Claire's whole philosophy of life was embodied in those four desolate words: "I never look forward!"

The world seemed built up of sadness and cross-purposes. Claire and Nick, Judith, and Elaine Forman—all had their own particular burdens to carry, burdens which had in a measure spoiled the lives of each one of them. It seemed as though no one was allowed to escape those "muzzers of Destiny," of which Claire had spoken as he and Jean had climbed the mountain-side together. She felt a depressing conviction that her own turn would come and wondered whether it would be sooner or later.

Little Helps For This Week

"Study to show thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed."—2 Timothy ii. 15.

One by one thy duties wait thee. Let thy whole heart go to each. Let no future dream elate thee, Learn thou first what these can teach.

—Adelaide Anne Procter.

The consciousness of duty performed gives us music at midnight."

—George Herbert.

Do thy duty, and be at peace with God and thine own conscience. There can be no true peace for this apart from the honest and daily discharge of those obligations, great and small, which come into thy life from the Creator, and which, rightly viewed, are angels of divine discipline. Thou hast too much to say about thy rights, and thinkest too little about thy duties. Thou hast but one inalienable right; and that is the sublime one of doing thy duty at all times, under all circumstances, and in all places.—Frederic R. Maroin.

CANADIAN WOMEN FIND DUSTING DISTASTEFUL

Dust cloths going into discard; Unpleasant to use; a bother to Wash

APPLEFORD WONDER PAPER HAS GREAT VOGUE

Of all household tasks, that of dusting is the least appealing to the majority of women.

However, this condition, like many another connected with housework, is undergoing radical change. In a great many Canadian homes the women are discarding dust cloths entirely, and are using Appleford Wonder Paper instead, because it actually dusters—as it cleans—as it polishes, doing a better and much quicker job than the old dust cloth ever did.

This new, and extremely modern Wonder Paper, is made from clean rags, and soft paper pulp, treated in a scientific way with a high-grade furniture polish; and absorbs dirt instead of spreading it.

Appleford Wonder Paper comes in handy-size packages, twenty-five large sheets for twenty-five cents. You crumple a sheet into a soft wad and go over the surfaces requiring attention. Then when one side is soiled or worn, turn the Wonder Paper inside out. After you have given a quick and lasting finish to furniture and woodwork, you can still use Wonder Paper on the floors, if you wish.

And when you are through, there's no old duster to shake out or wash. Throw the soiled Wonder Paper away and you've completed the most tiresome part of housework in half the time and with half the effort.

Wonder Paper is made by the makers of the famous PARK-SANI Heavy Waxed Paper in the Green Box.

Lecture on Saturday Aftern

Farmers of the district are evincing quite an interest in the lecture to be given in the Moose Hall next Saturday afternoon, under the direction of J. H. McLaughlin, agent of the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Co. of Canada. The speakers will explain the advantages of the use by farmers of the famous Elephant Brand Fertilizer, from the use of which on grain fields such great benefits are guaranteed. The lecture will be given again, later in the evening, at Winterburn Hall.

A Question in High Finance

A farmer finds a one dollar bill and appropriates it, by right of discovery, to himself. He goes to town and pays it to a newspaper man on what he owed him; the newspaper man handed it over to a merchant to settle his account; the merchant pays a meat bill with it; the butcher pays it back to the original finder in part payment of a calf he had purchased.

After which the farmer takes it to the bank and discovers it to be a counterfeit; so on the ensuing Sunday he puts it in the missionary collection.

Query: Are all these debts cancelled by the spurious dollar?

at the University of Alberta. On Tues. March 22 commemorative services will be held in all countries in the world in memory of one of the greatest geniuses of all times, Johann Wolfgang Goethe. All important universities of Europe, the Americas, Asia and the Antipodes will do honor to his great services to mankind. The University of Alberta has arranged for services to be held on that day. Spring O'coat, Ghandi Style.

In reprinting what United States Retail Clothiers' association in solemn assembly dictated what the well-dressed man will wear this coming season, a writer in a daily paper says: "However, in the case of most men, the forecast indicates little old last year's suit will be fashionable, with a new ribbon to mislead the public as to the vintage of the chapeau. Cuffs on shirts will be turned; and many a new spring overcoat will consist wholly of a prayer for early and continued warm weather."

Here and There

New Brunswick will be selected as the training ground for the Boston Club in the 1933 N. H. L. season. About 40 players will go into the hunting camps some time around October 15.

Autumn sowing of all grains in Soviet Russia last year amounted to 85,400,000 acres, representing a decrease of 10.8 per cent from the official fall sowing programme mapped out by the government, according to a recent cable received by the Canadian Department of Trade and Commerce.

Week-end trips, so popular last year on Canadian Railway lines, will remain in force this year after February 23, as the date set for their discontinuation. The Canadian Passenger Association has reached this decision under pressure of public demand. Under this arrangement, round trip tickets between any Canadian stations for any week-end are offered by the railways at the rate of one and a quarter times the regular single fare.

Two Alberta speed-skating records were smashed at the recent Banff Winter Sports Carnival. The 220 yards event was won by A. E. Hardy, of Saskatoon, in 20 seconds flat, 4-5 seconds better than the former Alberta record. The three mile event was also taken by Hardy in 9 minutes and 2-5 seconds, being 23 and 3-5 seconds less than the former Alberta record. A. Managard, J. Nicol, of Drumheller, was elected Carnival Queen and will reign over the Banff Winter Sports Carnival of 1933.

Travellers in Canada at Easter-tide will have the benefit of the same time privileges as were granted them at Christmas, according to a recent announcement made by the Canadian Pacific Railway Association on behalf of the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways. The concession will be fare and a quarter for round trip, generally, to the travelling public, between Thursday, March 24 and Sunday, March 27, with return available up to Tuesday, March 29.

Fifty-seven 10-year leases of salmon and trout fishing rivers, lakes and streams in New Brunswick will be put up to public auction at the Parliament Building, Fredericton, April 7 next, at upset prices ranging between $28 per annum and $12,000 per annum, is the announcement of Hon. L. P. D. Tilley, provincial Minister of Lands and Mines. They represent the rich salmon fishing facilities on this side of the American continent.

At the close of a meeting of the directors of the Canadian Pacific held at Montreal, February 9, President E. W. Beatty announced that in order to help western farmers over the present period of depression the Company has offered to write-off interest on land contracts for the year 1931. This offer will be extended to the year 1932 on condition that the contract holder pays his taxes and his full instalment on his contract this year. Further encouragement in the form of a bonus will be given to those who make payments on account of arrears of interest, this bonus to be in proportion to payment made. This should be a great assistance to contract holders as the Company's funds who have suffered through depressed market or crop failures. 1251

New Chevrolet Six Owners Know What a Difference Six Cylinders Make!

SO many motorists have discovered the difference six cylinders make that today the Chevrolet Six leads all other automobiles in sales.

Six cylinders are better in every way. For example, Chevrolet's six-cylinder motor "pick-up" in high gear, quickly and without vibration. You get away ahead of the traffic and you do not have to shift gears so often. Secondly, you can drive as fast and as far as you like without any sense of strain or fatigue. For six-cylinder travel is smooth, quiet and restful at every speed.

Then, too, Chevrolet smoothness is built-in smoothness—inherent in six-cylinder design and Chevrolet's method of insulating engine from chassis by thick rubber cushions. It protects against the wear-and-tear of constant vibration as long as you drive your Chevrolet.

In addition to these great advantages, Chevrolet offers you Free Wheeling with safe, silent Synchro-Mesh gear shifting. It gives you 60-horsepower performance with lowest operating costs of any full-size car, regardless of the number of cylinders. And Chevrolet provides Bodies by Fisher—smarter, roomier and more lastingly quiet.

Drive a Chevrolet Six. You will find one pleasure and advantage after another to emphasize the fact: It's Wise to Choose a Chevrolet Six!
